Comprehensive module for youth training on HH4A (Hand Hygiene for All) developed and endorsed by stakeholder (LGD, WAB & UNICEF)

1. Introduction to the project

Sixty-one million people – 36 per cent of the Bangladesh population – do not have a place in their homes to wash their hands with water and soap. The COVID-19 pandemic is a stark reminder that one of the most effective ways to stop the spread of a virus is also one of the simplest: hand hygiene. It not only protects us from contracting the disease, but also stops transmission to other people. To beat the virus today – and be better prepared for future pandemics – universal access to hand hygiene must become a reality for everyone, in all settings, especially in health care facilities, schools and crowded public spaces. This approach is reiterated in WHO's recommendations on ensuring universal access to hand hygiene and improving hand hygiene practices to prevent COVID-19 transmission.

This situation must improve. Youths are known as a change agent. They are well-placed actors to make a difference in our society. Invest in them always worthwhile. They are the future decision-makers, implementers, and problem solvers.

Bangladesh has a 166.3 million population (Source: UNFPA). And one-third of them are Youth (Under 30). The UNICEF Bangladesh launched a volunteer initiative in 2019 as part of the Global Volunteer Initiative (GVI). GVI started in January 2018 with the mission to create, scale and innovate volunteer initiatives to support UNICEF's agenda for children. The primary goal of this initiative is: Support the implementation of UNICEF's programmatic work, accelerating impact on the ground and bringing positive change to children's lives. Build skills and capacity of volunteers, equipping them for entry into professional life. Enable and empower volunteers to become agents of change in their communities as well as nationally.

Also, in Bangladesh, WaterAid established a "Youth for SDG 6" platform in July 2019. They have over 1,000 registered volunteers. This platform aims to engage the Youth and provide them with a better knowledge of WASH so that they can be advocates for WASH issues in the future.

Bangladesh UNICEF and WaterAid agreed be partnered to support UNICEF-WHO Global initiate on HH4A through existing youth platforms.

Hand Hygiene for All is new domain in the development sector which has not received the right attention. In a pandemic situation the need for its importance with adequate training and capacity building across different service delivery institutions within youth is needed for a long-term sustainable solution. Effective and timely training on the HH4A roadmap and realization to responsibility will ensure wider uptake of hygiene practices at scale through instilling the HH4A aspects in community and youth networks.
